

Symposium 2006-2007

2007 Denver University Law Review Symposium
February 16, 2007 at the Sturm College of Law

Immigration: Both Sides of the Fence

The 2007 Symposium explored the topic of immigration. This one-day event at the Sturm College of Law fostered open dialogue on many aspects of immigration. The Symposium featured keynote speakers, as well as panel discussions on immigration and national security, immigration and the rule of law, and immigration and the economy.

Thank you to our speakers, attendees, and volunteers for making our Immigration Symposium successful!

Keynote Speakers:

Richard D. Lamm, University of Denver

Co-Director of the Institute for Public Policy Studies at the University of Denver and the former three-term Governor of Colorado (1975-1987), Governor Lamm is both a lawyer (Berkeley, 1961) and a Certified Public Accountant. Governor Lamm joined the faculty of the University of Denver in 1969.

Governor Lamm was selected as one of Time Magazine's "200 Young Leaders of America" in 1974 and won the Christian Science Monitor "Peace 2020" essay in 1985. In 1992, he was honored by the Denver Post and Historic Denver, Inc. as one of the "Colorado 100" - people who made significant contributions to Colorado and made lasting impressions on the state's history. Governor Lamm was Chairman of the Pew Health Professions Commission and a public member of the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education.

Governor Lamm's latest books are Two Wands, One Nation (2006) and The Brave New World of Health Care (2004).

Benjamin E. Johnson, American Immigration Law Foundation

Mr. Johnson has worked for fifteen years in the areas of immigration law and policy. Currently, he is the Director of the Immigration Policy Center (IPC) at the American Immigration Law Foundation in Washington, D.C. The IPC is an independent, non-partisan research center dedicated exclusively to research and analysis of immigration and immigration policy in the United States.

Mr. Johnson has written extensively on immigration law and policy, testified before Congress, and is a frequent commentator on television and radio. He practiced immigration law before moving to Washington, DC, where, for almost a decade, he has worked with Congress, the Administration, and federal agencies on a wide variety of immigration issues.

Mr. Johnson earned his law degree from the University of San Diego School of Law and studied International and Comparative Law at Kings College in London.

Panel Discussions:

"Immigration and National Security"

- Marisa S. Cianciarulo, Chapman University School of Law
- Brian Slocum, Florida Coastal School of Law
- Margaret Stock, United States Military Academy at West Point, New York

"Immigration and the Rule of Law"

- Kristina Campbell, Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund
- Christine Cimini, University of Denver Sturm College of Law
- Regina Germain, Rocky Mountain Survivors Center
- Matthew Parlow, Chapman University School of Law

"Immigration and the Economy"

- Marlin W. Burke, Denver Solo Practitioner
- Saby Ghoshray, Institute of Interdisciplinary Studies
- Matthew C. Wilson, University of Denver