

About the Institute...

The Rocky Mountain Land Use Institute is the region's leading center for continuing professional education and research in land use and environmental planning and law. Our annual conference is the largest of its kind in the United States, bringing together a diverse group of professionals from across the Rocky Mountain West and the country for discussion and debate of critical planning, regulatory and land development issues.

We depend on the generosity of people and organizations who share our passion for our mission of research and education on the legal and public policy dimensions of land use development and environmental stewardship.

We look forward to seeing you in March 2010!
